Dear Dr. Schorer,

I am pleased to respond to your request for information regarding my association with Oliver Nikolovski, M.D.

Dr. Nikolovski was a clinician in the out-patient departments of the Department of Psychiatry at the New York Medical College at a time when I was Director of the Division of Biological Psychiatry. Soon after he joined the clinical staff, he sought me out to develop clinical research projects.

We developed a number of studies together. I found him to be a meticulous worker and he carried out the details of the protocols with exactitude. He was reliable and thorough. He was liked by his patients. He taught resident psychiatrists the elements of descriptive psychiatry and his reputation in this role was good.

He is a reliable worker who carries out instructions well. He is neither innovative nor adventurous, and if he were placed in a position with specific missions, he would be a most productive member of the staff.

I trust these comments are helpful.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
