Dear Charlie,

It will be a pleasure to participate in the ACNP Study Group III in December, and I would like to give a progress report on our drug classification studies, focussing on methodological issues. There is one problem, however, and that is a potential conflict with a symposium organized by Al Freedman on Cannabis.

As a title: *EEG Profile Analysis of Alert Manfor
Psychopharmacology: A Progress Report.*

As additional participants, perhaps you would consider Anthony Kales, William Dement and Ian Oswald. These are very active in EEG classifications of sleeping man.

If you have limited funds, I wonder if Bradley is the best resource person. Have you thought of Oswald or Borenstein? Philip does little psychopharmacology relevant to human clinical problems, while Oswald and Borenstein do.

An abstract will follow shortly.

My best to Clara.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
