Dear Bob:

The local magazines including Time and Medical World News have each written of a new compound produced by Dr. Laborit, known as MEMPP or AG246. I am interested in this compound, and knowing of the relationship of your laboratories to various French concerns, I would be grateful if you could tell me if SKF is handling this compound for study in the United States? If not, do you know who is?

If you are, is this compound available for study in our patient population?

Many thanks.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
