Dear Al,

I trust that your meetings with Al Miller have gone well. During the past week we have completed an additional four investigations with cyclazocine. The observations are still consistent and I am quite pleased with the study so far. We are now beginning with the second stage, that of antagonists.

I will fly into New York on Saturday morning and will come to Metropolitan on Monday morning. As you may still be in California, I would be grateful if you would leave some general instructions and then set aside some time to work together on Tuesday or Wednesday.

As I mentioned, I have been invited to participate in the site visit at Duke on Thursday and Friday, April 21 and 22. This will require me to miss the festivities with Dr. Bleuler. I hope that I may be excused. If you feel that it is more valuable for me to be at the Medical College at this time, I will explain to NIH.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

P.S. Perhaps you would like to stop by on your way to California. I will be available all week until Friday evening. I would be pleased to show you about the laboratories here.
