Dear Dr. Blackwell:

It was a pleasure to discuss our drug evaluation programs during the recent meetings of the Society for Biological Psychiatry. While we have undertaken many clinical drug trials in psychotic and neurotic subjects, we have found these of less relevance to our eventual applications than our EEG studies which show interesting predictable relationships. Until we have exhausted our interest, we are devoting our principal clinical energies to combined EEG-clinical trials.

A sample protocol and some relevant reprints are enclosed.

If these methods interest you, I would be pleased to have you visit our laboratories to discuss your compounds.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
