Dear Virgil:

Following the intrusion of New York City into the search for a long-acting antagonist, a lay organization, FADA (Federation against Drug Abuse) announced its fund raising program focussed on a "positive" approach to drug addiction. They became interested in the antagonists and invited the participation of our laboratories in their scientific advisory board. Their fund raising is showing sufficient promise for me to suggest that it may be useful for us to meet again, when next you are in New York.

Would you call me before your next trip East?

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
