Glen Oaks, New York

Dear Mr. Montgomery:

I have now unpacked all my books and have sought the two you have requested. I brought neither one with me and can only recall that I read these earlier this year and anticipate having returned them to you.

You will be pleased to know that I found some other books that belong to you, however, and I am asking my librarian to pack these and send them on to you in the next few days.

We are growing rapidly and I am very excited about the library's future. Mrs. Matheson is working very well, and we have already obtained an assistant for her. I look forward to having the library moved to the new building within the next two weeks.

On your next trip to the West, I shall be pleased to have you visit us. My best regards,

Sincerely yours,

MISSOURI INSTITUTE OF PSYCHIATRY
