Dear Mel,

At a scientific meeting last evening one of my friends told me of an article that appeared in the recent issue of Look (that containing the first installment of the Manchester Book) which described the use of video tape in group therapy. The article describes the work of Ian Alger, a psychiatrist who I know in New York. Perhaps this will interest you, since I recall your discussion of the use of such tapes in your practice.

My best regards and many thanks for your thoughtfulness in calling me last weekend.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
