Dear Dr. Veress:

Your letter of March 23, 1967 has been referred to me for reply.

The Department of Psychiatry, New York Medical College, has embarked on a variety of new programs based on the development of a Community Mental Health Center. Programs relate to the care of in-patients and out-patients in direct conjunction with community agencies; studies in the treatment of narcotic addiction; and experimental studies based on the use of new psychoactive agents. As a teaching facility, staff members participate actively in the teaching of medical students and resident psychiatrists.

If this interests you, please call my secretary at 369-7900 Ext. 248.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
