

June 21, 1967

Dr. Richard P. White
Associate Professor of Pharmacology
The University of Tennessee
Department of Pharmacology
Memphis, Tennessee 38103

Dear Dick,

Dr. Freedman and I have visited Sterling-Winthrop and the negotiations for the expansion of our study programs in cyclazocine are now in progress. I have also called Dr. Cole in Washington and he has no objection to my writing a letter to him requesting to use some of our funds from our cyclazocine study project, if the negotiations with Sterling-Winthrop fall through.

I have written to Dr. Cole, and have submitted all the necessary data sheets to Sterling-Winthrop. I am optimistic that we will most likely be able to support the smaller budget and probably the larger budget. I will have to give Sterling-Winthrop until July 1 for their answer and hope that I will have one from NIMH before then.

In the interim, please accept the consultation fee for your recent visit. My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

MF:kp

enc.