Dear Mary Ann,

I have just returned from Europe and was saddened to find your note waiting for me at home. While I only knew Paul Feldman professionally, I admired his work and was pleased when you confirmed my opinion.

I do not know if there is anyone capable to continue his work and so this would be a loss not only to psychopharmacology but to Kansas as well.

Our own programs are continuing to grow. The clinical facilities both in and out-patient are quite active. We now have an EEG laboratory at the hospital and one for basic research at the College. The computer unit is very busy. It has taken me two years to find myself in almost the same place as when I left Missouri, but I hope I can build a professional program from this base.

Do you plan to visit New York in the near future? If so, I would be pleased to have you visit with us. My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
