Dear Dr. Janssen:

Thank you for your letter of July 8, regarding new investigations of drugs. I have discussed your letter with Dr. Samuel Gershon, who is the Institute's pharmacologist.

We are indeed interested in new compounds and would suggest that you send us such information as you may have available on both 10-029 and 10-189.

The animal facilities of the Institute are being established this week. The wards have been in operation for many months and we are now beginning our first clinical trial with a new compound. We should be equipped to carry out full-range pharmacological and clinical tests by the early fall.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M. D.
Director
