Dear Dr. Meites:

I am writing at the suggestion of Dr. Dorothy Krieger. During the past year, I have become interested in the cerebral effects of hormones, particularly derived from ACTH. My experience with hormones is limited to my education in medical school some years ago, and I inquired of her as to the availability of post-graduate courses in endocrinology (particularly neuroendocrinology). She knew of none, but suggested that I write to you first, as a matter of inquiry, and second, to suggest that there may be others like myself interested in such an opportunity.

I would be grateful for your advice.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M. D.
Professor of Psychiatry
